

the DREAMHOUSE

Our weekend away at Lake Raystown

You know the quote “a picture speaks a thousand words?” Well this picture sure does! The battles have been thick at the Dream House, individually and corporately.

But THIS...

This is the result of steadfast prayer warriors.

This is God's faithfulness!

This is what victory looks like!

Walking into the bathroom of that beautiful cabin at Raystown Lake, I heard the familiar sound of cheering and laughter coming from the bedroom on the other side of the wall. I smiled, knowing that, after she got her daughter to sleep she was watching a video from the highlight of the day, tubing from the back of a boat. It didn't matter that she had unexpectedly toppled into the water before the boat even started or that she splashed back into the water a second time at the end... She was living. Time stood still. This was fun.

And as she now watched that video, she was recalling a memory. A memory made with her new family that had just emerged not even a month ago. A memory of laughter, trying something new, taking a fun risk, experiencing joy. Truth is, she has a lot of difficult memories, memories that need healing. But in this moment a fresh, good memory was made.

A memory that she will never forget!

Stay connected. They are experiencing healing!

First Apartment!

Zinniah has her own apartment! Although there is work to be done and it's a process of settling in, little by little it is coming together! As we gathered to pray over her new beginning days before she moved out, she was surrounded by those who deeply care about her. And she will continue to be surrounded as she navigates this new chapter of adulthood.

If you feel led to send her a word of encouragement to her new apartment, text or email us for her address.

It would be fun to flood her new mailbox with some love!

Dream House Kids :)

We are honored to play a significant role in the lives of many children!

We see them at times throughout the week and then spend the evenings with them every Thursday during our Family Dinners.

One of our favorite little guys celebrated his 7th Birthday and we were able to bless him with some gifts and cupcakes!

After that... Spiderman showed up!!
